For the registration and creation of the user account, we need your e-mail address, to which we send you a verification code by e-mail, which you can enter in the App to confirm your email address. We process your e-mail address to set up and manage an individualised user account for you.

In addition, your data will be stored under “My Profile” in the App if you enter it in the context of the use of other functions (e.g. find an advisor or store). You can view the profile data at any time under “My Profile” and edit or delete your account.

However, we do not receive any personal information about you or your usage behaviour from Google. Further information on data protection at Google can be found here: https://policies.google.com/privacy?hl=de

If you use additional functions or services for this device (e.g. reminder function; customer service) within the scope of using the App, we use this information on the device to match your concern.

2.5.2 The legal basis of the data processing is contract performance.

We have no influence on the type and scope of data processing at Zendesk. You can find more information on data protection at Zendesk here.

3 VACUUM ROBOT

As part of the use of the App, you can also add and control your vacuum robot (robot) as a device. In this context, personal data are processed within the functions shown below.

3.1 ADD ROBOT

3.1.1 You can add a vacuum robot to your user account (e.g., Vorwerk VR 200/VR 300),. The serial number is processed to enable a unique identification and a connection to the device.

3.1.2 The legal basis of the data processing by the Vorwerk is contract performance.

3.2 MAP FUNCTION

3.2.1 The map function for VR300 and VR7 allows the creation of map data by the vacuum robot, which contains information about the location of operation of the robot (e.g. rooms, workflows, loading times). This information can be stored in the Robot Cloud and accessed by the App and processed there by you within the framework of the control of the robot (e.g. drawing of virtual boundaries “no go lines” or “no go zones in certain work areas of the robot depending on the model). Any access to or processing of such data by Vorwerk is only done on your request by the customer service support. The App keeps the last version of the map until it is overwritten by a newer version. Information coming from the maps is not combined with any other information and does not allow the identification of individuals in the surrounding of the Robot.

3.2.2 The legal basis of the data processing is contract performance.

3.3 ROBOT CONTROL

3.3.1 You can use the App to control the vacuum robot (e.g. start/stop/ specify work areas). For this purpose, the corresponding commands are transmitted together with authentication data between App and device. Storage of this data is not performed by Apple/ Google.

3.3.2 The legal basis of the data processing is contract performance.

3.4 OBJECT RECOGNITION AND AVOIDANCE

3.4.1 The object avoidance feature is necessary to define the best cleaning route for the robot without any obstacles. In order to do that, we may process images from the robot camera, as well as the location of the object in the floorplan. The feature is aimed at detecting objects (such as cables and socks) and not individuals. However, images of individuals may be unintentionally collected when they are in the surroundings of the robot camera. The processing is executed purely on the robot and only refers to Real-time data, and therefore, data will not be stored or shared externally.

3.4.2 The legal basis of the data processing is contract performance, except for the processing of images of third parties (such as individuals from the same household) which is based on your legitimate interest to benefit from an effective cleaning route.

3.4.3 You may change the settings at any time and turn off/on the object avoidance feature. Turning off the object avoidance may negatively impact the efficiency of the cleaning process of the robot.

4 CUSTOMER SERVICE SUPPORT

4.1 Depending on the type of contact desired and type of requests received, we may collect certain data from you and share it with the customer service support provided by THE MIX AUSTRALIA PTY LTD. Such data can vary from being related to fixing a technical problem to request for information, in addition we will collect: Product; first name, last name, email address or telephone number (depending on your preference to be contacted).The foregoing data will be used in order to fulfil the specific customer service request.

4.2 The legal basis of the data processing is contract performance .

6 RECIPIENT OF DATA, DATA TRANSFER TO THIRD COUNTRIES

These service providers process your personal data only on our order and according to our instructions. These third parties are obliged to maintain data protection and confidentiality of the data. Vorwerk is responsible for processing the data.

6.2 Vorwerk reserves the right to transmit your data to third parties outside the EU in order to provide services. In these cases, we ensure that your personal data will only be forwarded to third parties outside the EU if an appropriate level of data protection has been established by the European Commission or we have agreed to the standard contractual clauses with these third parties and additional supplemental measures.

7.2 In accordance with Sec. 3.4 above, given the fact that the processing refers to personal data that are not being stored or shared externally, the right to rectification, the right to deletion, and the right to data portability shall not apply.

9.3 However, we would like to point out that it is possible, due to the structure of the internet, that the rules of data protection and the aforementioned security measures are not comprehensively observed by other persons or institutions not within our area of responsibility.

10 RESERVATION OF AMENDMENT

We reserve the right to adapt the Data Protection Policy from time to time, e.g. if there are changes in data processing. In the event of an update of this data protection information, we will inform you in an appropriate manner, e.g. via the App or via email.
